The same goes for the opposite situation in which a player is attending the Academy and wishes to play for the club in the city of their permanent residence. That player must be released by the Academy in order to play for the club in the city of their permanent residence at the CWBL Women's National Championship. These players are able to appear on the Academy roster as well as the roster of their club playing out of their permanent residence as the Academy uses the CWBL league for training purposes.

The club to which the player is assigned has the option of keeping the player or releasing them. Should the club release the player, or the Domestic Committee rules in favour of the player's request to not play for that team, the Domestic Committee will assign the player to a team participating in the CWBL Women's National Championship. This assignment will take into account several factors including, but not limited to, need for players, classification gaps, geographic proximity, and strength of team.

3.2.3. Once assigned to a team, the club to which the player is assigned has the option of keeping the player or releasing them. If the player does not wish to play for that team, they have the option of writing the Domestic Committee stating the reasons why and the Domestic Committee will rule on the decision.
